“ Beckie was always so warm and inviting, whether it was sharing a pew with her at church or visiting with her on her front porch.

One of my favorite memories was the time she mentioned she didn't know we had a community newsletter and that she would love to be on our mailing list. That afternoon, I rode my bicycle over to Beckie's house to personally deliver a newsletter. She invited me to sit a spell on her carport porch and we must have chatted for at least an hour about all things Chatt Hills. On my ride home, I thought about how much Beckie loved this community, her Providence Baptist Church family, and of course her expanded Peek family. She was truly blessed, as were all who knew her.

I don't recall ever seeing Becky without a big smile on her face and a funny comment from her. One time I commented about her BIG farm table and she said, "You never know who might show up for dinner." Love you Becky and love to your family.
