“ What can one really say when a dear friend or family member goes home except thank God for Jesus. Words will never express what is truly in the heart of the person who knew them. All we can do is try.

I have heard it said that in his younger day C.P. Chastain was a force to be reckoned with. Said what he meant, meant what he said. He raised his sons to grow up to be outstanding young men. Christian to the core and they in turn have raised their children Christian. You don't see that much any more.

CP loved to sing and used his talents for the Lord leading a choir or congregation in singing praises to our God. You could always count on him in a pinch and know that what he told you was what he believed and there were no embellishments unless he was looking to get a laugh.

I believe CP loved his wife. I believe she loved and still loves him. We all know its hard to find couples anymore that stay together. It's not easy tolerating another person but where there is love involved it covers ALL things.

He knew about horses and loved the Tenn. Walking Horse especially. He trained a few in his day. The family remembers Strut, Fella, and others I don't remember. He passed that love down to his son Dennis who became my goodest bestest friend as close as a real brother could be. There were a lot of good times involved with the horses. If we rode into the wee hours of the morning we would see head lights coming down the rode we knew it'd be CP coming to check on where his son was.

He treated us all like family, he & Gwen. My daughter couldn't love anyone more as a grandparent. From the fire ant episode to big smushy kisses when she came in the door, she thought he'd be here forever.

From the wonderful bus driver days to week-ends galavanting to Festivals, he and Gwen continued their life together and when his shoulder started hurting and later the news. His wife, children & family stood by him. You know...there are a lot of familys who are estranged and would never pull together in any event, but the Chastains did. It's what they do. Good people to the core.

I would like to think God looked at CP and said "well done, thou good and faithful servant" your covered and it's time to come home. At the same time He is saying, "not yet, Gwen". But CP will be waiting.

I can just hear CP now. "W'all David, Dennis yall 2 keep on making me proud with a good example to the grandkids. That's the legacy I'm leaving. What ya'll do all the way down the line reflects on yur Mother & me. See ya boys when it's your turn."

May God add his continuous Blessings to ALL the Chastains. My children and I love you all.

“ Thank you heavenly father for allowing Cleman Chastain to be with us for 74 years on this temporary home we call earth. I am sure memories are plenty and although I never got the chance to personally meet him I am sure he was an outstanding member of a societty that will certainly miss him. I say this based on how I see he raised his son David Chastain, I have been a coworker of David for 11 years.

God Bless!!!
