“ There are some people in life whose love helps shape who we become, and my aunt was one of those people for me. She was such a beautiful and important part of my childhood, and so many of my favorite memories have her in them. She taught me so much about faith, love, kindness, and strength without ever having to say much at all. The love she gave so freely will stay with me forever. I will always miss her deeply, cherish every moment we shared, and carry a piece of her with me for the rest of my life. Heaven truly gained someone special.
