

Daniel Castiglione, Sr.

August 26, 1949 - October 12, 2021

Mr. Daniel Castiglione, Sr. of Locust Grove passed away October 12, 2021. Dan was born in Brooklyn, NY, grew up in Hollywood, Florida and lived in Georgia for 30 years. He worked for 40 years in the retail and supply chain industry and was a pioneer in barcode logistics. His seven grandchildren call him “Papa” and many others call him friend or Mister Dan. He loved spending time with his family, fishing, and woodworking. Dan never met a stranger; he saw the best in people and was quick to help them. He used his God-given talents to serve others in the church and community. Whether fixing fishing rods for foster kids or building a podium at the church, he was always ready and willing to serve others by fixing anything or building something for them. He loved the Lord and left a strong legacy of faithful service to God to his wife, children, and grandchildren.

He is survived by his wife, Linda Castiglione of Locust Grove; children, Daniel Castiglione and his wife Erika of Durham, NC; Lauren Pierce and her husband Scott of Greenville, SC; Kristen Farner and her husband Steven of Newnan; father, Peter Castiglione of Duluth; brother, Peter Castiglione and his wife Bea of Chatham, VA; twin brother, Joseph Castiglione and his wife Diana of Coral Springs, FL; sister, Edith Valentini and her husband Val of Duluth; grandchildren, Maggie Rose, Isaac and Derek Castiglione; Emily Rose and Kale Pierce; Brody and Branson Farner and many nieces, nephews, and cousins. “ Going way back to when I was a young girl at Grandma Rose’s house celebrate celebrating the holidays, Uncle Danny would get would get out his big camera and start snapping pictures of us. It always made me feel special when he said he would want to take a picture or pictures of me. Then he would show us the pictures on the slideshow after he had them developed. It was so much fun. My whole family knows Uncle Danny to be a kind and gentle soul. We greatly enjoyed his company whenever we were with him. We are grateful that we can rejoice that he is with the Lord.

“ Linda, I am so sorry for your loss. My heart hurts with you and your beautiful family, Dan was a good man and I know he is missed deeply. I agree with your post Linda, because the reality is knowing where he is and who he is with. I most remember the memory of how Dan helped Michael and me plan our trip to Italy, as he provided and guided us to the very place where the Apostle Paul spent his last days in prison. We walked in that room, it was surreal and it was the highlight of our trip. May Jesus wrap you in His arms right now and may you experience the love and peace He is covering you and family with during this time. Sending big hugs to you right now, and love, Sherry Lucas.

“ The Castiglione family was the first to welcome us to the neighborhood. We learned a lot about parenting by interacting with them. We are better neighbors because of them. We are heartbroken to lose Dan, but know he is joining the saints in heaven.

“ To the family. You are all in my thoughts and prayers. Praying for strength, to get through this so difficult time, comfort and the peace that passes all understanding. You know Dan was very special to me, my mom and my whole family. He will be greatly missed. A few weeks ago I was on the phone with him for over an hour talking about the family, his violins, the various trips he took when he was working. He was telling me where my son Dave should go when he's in Nova Scotia. We were trying to figure out when we would be back to Atlanta, so we could get together. Even though we live far away we've always been in each other's hearts.

I will miss him so much.
