“ Dad , I want to say thank you for being my dad. I'm sorry we lived so far apart and I didn't get to see you much. The times spent were good , I never said goodbye but see you later instead. I know you were and are proud of me and the things I've accomplished. Just know you will be missed and I love you pops . Thanks again dad . Love you always
In Christ

“Daddy , I love you and no your tools are stored away in cissy laundry room ! I did not take then ask cissy ! Lol hard to lol daddy but who would have ever thought that a bad situation at the time felt with you and i disagreeing over whos tools where whos 'makes me smile now ! Takes away a lot of pain in my soul last night as gentle as i have ever known with us was what we both needed ! You looked at me and asked where cissy was i told you then she open the door as if her heart knew you called her name when she came in she liked to have caught you crying so the strong emotions of yours played it off even at that moment only you and i and God new our conversation you said you was scared then you looked at me and said dont cry pray which only made me feel good and at same time over whelmed at same time ! I asked you did you want to pray you knotted your head you grabbed my left hand three finger of it any way and as i prayed your grip got tighter presence of God no doubt i looked over at you and seen a man i have never seen before humble himself give hisself to higher power and accept it was his time to come home ! When this had ended you and i for the first time in our lives sat in the presence of one another crying together but this time for much better reason ! I was proud to be your son and you my dad at that moment i never thought would come ! Wow talking about last minute you and i pushed it to the edge know doubt but we did it ! I left daddy went found me a place to cry find peace and let go ! When i left you and i both new that would be the last time until mama and you bring me home again ! Gave me hope that this was just the beginning of a making of our family all over in a world where no problems are ! When i got the text you had gone on home i was numb but i remember when i walked out your door you said i love you son , im not scared any more ! Daddy i love you to and im not scared any more ether ! Tell mama i love her and we will all get along and yes i used your lawnmower again today but dont worry cissy took your place and on me about it lol love you daddy
