

Edward "Wayne" Youngblood

October 16, 1959 - November 15, 2024

Edward "Wayne" Youngblood, 65, passed away peacefully at his home on November 15, 2024.

Wayne began working at just 15 years old driving a dump truck. This led to his lifelong passion for being behind the wheel in his 50 plus years of driving---he hauled everything from gravel to the McDonald's prize winning Britney Spears CD's, to automobiles.

Wayne never met a stranger, and he had a story for everything. By the time he was done talking, you had either figured out y'all were related or at least knew the same people. He was quite the character and was loved by so many.

In his later years, Wayne enjoyed camping, cruising, and gambling at the casinos. But his greatest enjoyment came from spending time with his grandkids. They were his world, and he loved being "Pawpaw".

The family will hold a celebration of life gathering on Saturday, November 23, 2024 at 2:00 p.m. at 79 Williams Drive, Concord, GA 30206.

Jelly Roll said it best:

"The windshield is bigger than the rearview mirror for a reason, because what is in front of you is more important than what is behind you."

Words of condolences can be sent to the family at 106 Moore Road, Newnan, GA 30263.

“ I know this is a sad good bye here on earth but there will be a happy reunion one day when we all meet him again with a brand new body in our heavenly home I am praying for all of y'all One of the greatest memories I have is when we were 15 at daddy's church and he sang his favorite song as I played it on the piano Wayne is in heaven now with Tara and now he knows the answer to his song "why me Lord ". Timmy keep them big wheels rolling for him till it's time to "gritty up and go" and meet him on that big highway in the sky. Love and prayers to all of y'all
