“ I just saw in the paper where Clyde passed. I am so sorry for your family's loss. what a kind and gentle person Clyde was and I know he was so proud of all his family. I can still see him playing tennis with Pat and not yelling at her like most husbands do with their wives. I will keep all of you in my prayers because I think very highly of all of you.

“ I'm sorry for your family's loss. Though I've not met him, from all the comments it's clear that he was and remains loved. And though I don't have a memory of your dear loved one, Jehovah (Ps. 83:18) does for he rests now securely in Jehovah's memory until the glorious day when all those in the memorial tombs will hear his Son's voice, our ransomer, and come out. (John 5:28) What a reunion God has promised. Sending you my love and deepest sympathy now and may Jehovah, our Father, our God and Friend, comfort you and give you peace and hope until that day arrives. (2 Cor. 1:3-7)
