“ As a little girl, I would watch my mother put on her makeup in the bathroom as she got ready for work in the mornings. She would let me sit on the bathroom counter and watch her apply her makeup as talked to me about the day coming up. I severely suffered from separation anxiety as a child. The very last thing she would do is put on her bright pink lipstick. She would tear off one tissue square and blot her lipstick, she would pucker her lips, like a kiss, then blot. Then she would put the tissue in the trash. I would remove that tissue, and get the remnants of her lipstick from the tissue onto my lips. Then I would carefully fold up that tissue, put it in my pocket, and carry her kiss with me throughout the day. What a strong tower she was, a hero and blessing beyond measure.

“ To: Rhoda, So sorry that you had to see your Mother go! She was a beautiful lady. She was kind and godly. She was a great caregiver, and helped everyone she could. Aunt Margaret was my favorite Aunt. Although, I didn't get to see her very often, I thought of her often and prayed for her. I wish we had lived nearby those many years that we were in Lafayette, LA and Houston, TX. We will see her and our sons again someday. It's not so long off anymore. Love to all!
