“ I have just learned of Marilyn's death. She was another mom to me. I remember many nights of her and Dick sitting at the kitchen table with my mom and dad having spirited discussions. She always treated me like a daughter when I was there with Carol. I know how much she grieved her daughter. I'm sure they are reunited now in heaven. My condolences to all the boys and your families. You had a very special mom. She is greatly missed.

“ God bless you Marilyn and the whole Stewart family. Marilyn and Dick were like second parents to the McDaniel boys since we spent about as much time at your house as we did our own. Marilyn was not afraid to straighten us crazy boys out either and it rarely took more than a look and a few words of “encouragement” and I will never forget that about her. You did such an amazing job raising that family of yours and that is the best any of us can ever hope to do.

*You will always be in our hearts.
With sincere love,
Brian McDaniel*

“ This lady taught me everything... How to laugh at myself, how to be a great mother to my children, how to paint and how to hug. The thought of going on without her is heartbreaking. But I am so proud to have been a part of your family. I am so thankful that you were my husband's mother and such a wonderful grandmother to my children. I know you were weary and ready to join all of those who were waiting for you on the other side. Marilyn Stewart, I will always and forever love you and I will be eternally grateful for your love and support throughout these years. Thank you for being you right up til the end of your journey in this lifetime. Till we meet again~

“ Im sorry to hear of your loss. Death is never something that God intended for us to go through. He soon promises to do away with all suffering, pain, and death for good. He also extends to all the hope of seeing our loved ones again. May God continue to comfort you in your time of need.-Revelation 21:4, Isaiah 25:8
