I am so sorry to hear about Ms Thomas. She was my seventh grade teacher. I knew her first as Ms Kitchens then Justice then Ms Thomas. She was the best teacher I had during Elementary school. I got real sick after Washington trip and missed my first year of High School. Ms Kitchens came to my house on Clermont Avenue on numerous occasions to visit.

The did not expect me to make it. When I started my first job at Fulton County Schools we ran into alot. In the pass years I lost track of her, I guess the last time I saw her was at Cracker Barrell and she told me she was moving back to East Point. She also was friends with my Mom who worked at Fairburn Banking. She will dearly be missed. Prayers and thoughts are with the family.

I also had Ms Kichens (her name back then) as my 7th grade teacher. She was also my favorite teacher. When the weather was bad she would take us to the school auditorium and show us how to dance. She was so very kind and sweet. I am sorry for your family's loss.

I had Miss Kitchens in 7th grade (1965?) and it was her first year of teaching, as I recall. Such a nice, sweet person and we had a few kids in the class that really tested her patience! She loved reading to us and even let me take over sometimes so she could take a break. Sometimes we played word games using our first and last names, going around the room. When the combo came up as "rice patty" she got so tickled we thought she would never stop laughing! I tried unsuccessfully to find her the last few years because I wanted to thank her for accelerating me in math and English when I entered Russell High School. She enabled me to graduate a year early and I went on to Georgia Tech in 1969 for my degree. I will never forget the impact she had in my life and I know she is missed by so many that knew her. May she rest in peace. Ellen Evatt

“ Pat and I disagreed on the often argued about issue that is whether or not sweet potato soufflé (or as I call it, “marshmallow pie”) is actual food or simply just junk. There was never a time when we didn't debate about it. I'll cherish those and all the other times we shared for as long as I live.
