“ I met Sabra when I moved from Brooklyn, NY to Los Angeles, CA when I was 17 years old and she was 16 years old. She became one of the key people in my life. We would lose touch for years but always reconnected without a hiccup.

From eating French fries at Helen's through her being my Matron of Honor, this friendship endured and thrived.

Thank you, Saby for always saying “ whatee “, for listening without judging, for agreeing to always look after my son, Jesse.

Pat, here's your girl. Love you both.

Thank you for the love. Go and be free. 😊

AN

Sabra and I met when we were just 7 & 8. We became the best of friends for many years. Though we stopped talking, I never forgot her. So many years of growing & changing. I loved her dearly, and I always will.

When she was delivering Tasha, & Ally, I was on the phone listening to the delivery. When they both cried I cried too.
