“ We are devastated to hear this terribly sad news. We Loved Miss Vickie. Our little SeaWeed loves to say “Miss Vickie! I Love You” She always took such good care babysitting him, and we so enjoyed our chats at drop off and pick up. She was so funny and honest, always a joy to be around. She loved talking about her kids, she was so proud of them both, and she taught us so much about birds. Our hearts go out to her Family at this difficult time. What a devastating Loss.

“ Vicki and I became friends thru parrots. When she decided to close her rescue a few years ago, she made sure every one of her birds went to a good home. The only one she couldn't place was Honey, a young umbrella cockatoo that was cage bound and terrified of anyone who came near her. Vicki asked me to take her and work with her. Now Honey goes to events with me and will always look up to that wonderful lady who cared so much about parrots and life. Godspeed my friend.

“Miss Vicki” was one of the most courageous, gifted, authentic and inspiring people I’ve ever known. There are no words that can adequately describe just how amazing of a woman she was. She had a profound impact on my life and I will treasure her teachings and the memories we shared. She was truly one of my most favorite people and will be deeply missed.

Vicki was a dear friend that I met through Facebook. It was a Moluccan Cockatoo parrot connection that brought us together many years ago. We had wonderful times together and I will miss her forever. My prayers are with her loving family and friends.
