“ I just learned that Mrs. Duncan went home to God last week. I remember her from my youth (with Mr. Clyde Duncan), as a devoted and cheerful Christian woman, and their presence in church every Sunday. May God bless and comfort the family and friends in faith, sweetest memories, and the blessings of her time on earth for her exemplary life. My prayers and thoughts are with you all,

“ I could copy Margaret Kilgores words because every word described Virginia to a tee. She was the sweetest most kind person I have ever known. Heaven is a happier place upon her arrival. My sincere sympathy and love to the family. Virginia

“ The last time I saw Virginia was at Southland and I couldn't help but notice a large very ragged old Bible on the nightstand next to her bed. It, like Virginia, was about worn out. By the looks of the Bible, Virginia had really studied it over the years and what she learned shone through in her exemplary life.

Virginia was one of the sweetest ladies this world has ever seen and she evermore loved her family. We are all sad that she is gone from us, but I know that Virginia is glad to be reunited with Clyde, Jr after all these many years, and I know that Clyde greeted her with open arms, as she heard God say, “Well done my good and faithful servant”.
