“ Years of memories enter our minds as we think of all the times we enjoyed Ginny's company. Gathering rocks for our flower garden from her creek, sitting on her porch with a glass of tea, searching out thrift stores with her and Paul, her smiling face in the kitchen at Saint Matthew, and last but not least---taking her the Body of Christ in her home Thursday before her death. She had that wonderful smile and was joking about Paul and his service at our church. How will we ever get along without that smile and her tireless efforts at Saint Matthew.

Our thoughts and prayers go out to Paul and his family.

“ I always liked to tease Ginny, calling her Martha, because she was always working so hard in the kitchen and anywhere else they needed her.

I will miss you Ginny, May God Bless You and keep you near His Heart.

“ I may not have known Mrs. Virginia Norris personally, but I do know that she was loved. I have heard several stories about her from conversations I have had with Laura each time she would visit home. I have no doubt that Laura got her smile, wittiness and sense of humor from her mother. Praying for your entire family during this tough time.

“Ginny and Dickie (Paul) were the influences in our lives to do things together. To take chances that mattered and not be afraid to tackle anything together. That went for love, marriage and family, as well as building, traveling and generally living life to it's fullest together. We always enjoyed their hospitality and their is none more accepting and accommodating than they. My most precious memory will be of the times when we would sit in the gazebo overlooking the creek and talk for hours about anything. Walking the creek or down the lane with her is etched in my memory forever. We will miss Ginny a lot as I know we all will. Just knowing her was a real blessing but having her for a Sister was the best thing of all. Heaven will surely be sweeter because she's there. Proverbs says it best about her: She looks well to the ways of her household and doesn't eat of the bread of idleness. Her children rise up and call her blessed. Her husband also praises her. Many women have done virtuously but none more excellent than her. Psalms 30:5 -Weeping only lasts for the night but joy comes in the morning.

“ I use to love to listen to stories told by Grandma Mueller about Aunt Ginny as a child. Like the times Grandma would take her to school only to find her sitting on the back steps when Grandma returned home. Or when she chased Uncle Dale around the dining room table with a butcher knife. Or when Grandpa was trying to catch her after she did something naughty and she ran right THRU the back screen door. That was Aunt Ginny. Feisty and scrappy. But what I admired most was the relationship between her and Uncle Dickie (Paul). Boy, how he loved her! I'm glad I got to spend some time with them, sitting in the backyard by the creek, swatting mosquitos and talking about life. I'll miss that, but I'll keep the memories close in my heart.
